COLOSSAL WAR EPIC PICTURE SHOWING AT CAPITOL TOMORROW

After the completion of the many battle scenes included in the colossal epic, "All Quiet on the Western Front," running at the Capitol Theatre for nine days starting tomorrow, Universal officials made a careful check of the value of first aid hospital unit that accompanied the company on all its locations.

According to a report prepared by Dr. William P. Hutchins, who was in charge of the hospital unit, approximately 3,500 cases were treated during the eleven weeks of production when large groups of extras were engaged. Of this number there was not a single serious case. The figures indicated that John Hallor, who was employed by the company to give first aid treatment, handled forty-six cases daily.

The cases ranged from simple lesions to dislocations and fractures. It so happened that there were but three cases of dislocation and fractures and these were minor fractures. Most of the cases treated were slight abrasions and burns. Soldiers occasionally were struck by flying objects or sustained slight injuries in barbed wire entanglements.

FAMOUS VILLAIN OF SILENT DRAMA CAST WITH NANCY CARROLL

The "Critics' Delight" is appearing in another picture with Nancy Carroll. He is Paul Lukas, and he has earned the title "Critics' Delight" among movie writers because he is one of the most competent actors of villain roles in the film business. Critics, it seems, never have failed to give Lukas a very favorable notice for his sterling work.

Lukas started his acting career in stage productions in Hungary, his native country. He went to Hollywood about two years ago to appear in several silent pictures with Pola Negri. He could only speak a few words of English, but by diligent study he mastered the strange tongue in a very short time, and soon found himself much in demand as a villain in talking pictures.

Lukas is seen and heard in "The Devil's Holiday" with Miss Carroll. He plays the role of the New York surgeon whose timely advice saves the day for Carroll and her hero-lover, Phillips Holmes, in this romance-drama of the great American west-belt. "The picture comes to a close at the Dominion Theatre to-night."

BITING SARCASTIC MORE FORCEFUL THAN PROFANITY

One of the several things about "Journey's End" as a drama is its lack of profanity. A play in which the characters are men—in which they are all soldiers and probably less swearing in it than any talking picture yet produced.

"Journey's End," current at the Playhouse Theatre, was written by R. C. Sherriff without profanity—and it did not get inserted in Hollywood, despite the success of "What Price Glory" and "The Cock-eyed World." "Journey's End" is a story of men who have gotten beyond the need of blasphemy. The war—their unusual life, their nerve tension, their inhuman danger—has taken the edge off the most virile curses. The superlative—and that's what profanity is—is not half so forceful to these warriors as the simplest words.

For instance, Colin Clive's line to the Colonel, "How awfully nice if the Brigadier's pleased," is so much more heavily freighted with meaning than any cursing. This man with his heart torn to bits over the loss of his best friend and his best officer can express his agony most succinctly in the biting sarcasm of those simple lines, repeated again when he says, "Still, it'll be awfully nice if the Brigadier's pleased!"

FAY MARBE ENACTS FAMOUS STAGE PLAY AT THE COLUMBIA

In "The Talk of Hollywood," which is at the Columbia Theatre to-day, Fay Marbe, the leading woman, will do her famous vaudeville act which she has performed in almost every capital of the world. This international star is making her talking picture debut in support of Nat Carr, the star of the attraction.

NEW BUICK TO SHOW IN CITY IN SHORT TIME

Handsome New Eight Cylinder Machine Will Embodiment Many New Motor Inventions

The most important builder of six cylinder motor cars outside the lowest price field will on August 1, swing over to eight cylinders. On that date, according to A. A. Rose, zone manager of General Motors Products of Canada, Limited, in Vancouver, four series of McLaughlin-Buick valve-in-head straight eights will go on display across the country.

Silent synchro-mesh transmission, standard on three of the four new McLaughlin-Buick series, appears for the first time on cars of medium price, enabling the driver to shift noiselessly back and forth at any speed required by driving conditions. "These new McLaughlin-Buick eights make it possible to drive at breath-taking speeds, with perfect safety and with no consciousness of motor effort," said Mr. Rose. "They're so sensitive that they seem almost to respond to the driver's wish, and their silence at any pace is almost uncanny. My own experience with these new cars convinces me that they will be a revelation to the motoring world."

Described by Mr. Rose as one of the greatest contributions to trouble-free motoring is the engine oil temperature regulator introduced on all the new McLaughlin-Buick eights. This device maintains the oil at the most efficient operating temperature—warming it in winter and cooling it in summer. It is peculiarly valuable in Canadian weather conditions. The new straight eights in all wheel-base lengths retain the distinctive body lines of the 1930 models, as well as many of the proved features of the McLaughlin-Buick line. The valve-in-head principle, the unit power plant, the controlled servo-internal brakes, sealed chassis, and double-acting shock absorbers, are carried into the field of the eight.

TELLS ENGLAND OF PEACE AREA

Old Country Interest Centred in British Columbia

Dr. Marcel Andre Here to Gather Lecture Data

Vancouver, July 30.—England appears to be interested more in British Columbia than any other part of Canada, and at present is particularly interested in the Peace River district, according to Dr. G. Marcel Andre, internationally known lecturer of the Crystal Palace, London and Wembley Exhibition Empire Exhibition, who is a visitor in Vancouver.

Prof. Andre, during the course of his present tour across the Dominion by Canadian Pacific lines, is preparing a book on Canada for a series of lectures he will give next winter in London. He lectures under the patronage of the Imperial government, the British Navy League and the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

"During my lectures in England last winter," the lecturer said, "I was continually being asked about the Peace River district, which is much in the public eye there. English people wanted to know particularly about the climate, the price of land and possibilities in agriculture and industry. Frankly, I had to tell them I didn't know. But after the trip I hope to be able to tell them all about it."

Dr. Andre is in consultation with the Vancouver Board of Trade and on Vancouver's Peace River district, which is much in the public eye there. English people wanted to know particularly about the climate, the price of land and possibilities in agriculture and industry. Frankly, I had to tell them I didn't know. But after the trip I hope to be able to tell them all about it."

While on the coast he also expects to tour the Gulf Islands and other adjacent beauty spots adding to his travelogue-lecture, "Canada From Coast to Coast."

VANCOUVER IS PLANNING NEW EMPLOYMENT

Delegation is to Confer With B.C. Cabinet on Unemployment Problem

Vancouver, July 30.—The Vancouver City Council proposes to hold a conference with the Provincial Government within ten days to seek a solution to the problem of unemployment. At a secret session of the council yesterday afternoon, Alderman W. H. Lemke, acting mayor, was requested to confer with city members of the Legislature to prepare the way for a conference with the Cabinet, George E. McCroskey, corporation counsel, and the city relief officer were instructed to prepare a brief for the civic delegation to Victoria.

A nominating committee, consisting of Alderman Lemke, Alderman Angus Macdonald and Alderman John Bennett, was appointed to organize an advisory committee on unemployment to supplement the efforts of the council. This committee will be made up of representatives of business organizations, public bodies and industrial concerns.

It was the purpose of the city council, Alderman W. C. Altherton, chairman of the relief and unemployment committee, declared after the meeting yesterday, to impress on employers of the urgency of creating as much work as possible during the coming fall and winter months.

The following proposals submitted by Alderman E. W. Dean were passed by the council:

1. That the Federal Government be requested to curtail immigration to Canada from foreign countries and that immigrants from any part of the British Empire be required to prove they have means to sustain themselves for a year after arrival.
2. That no relief be given to any person not domiciled in the city for more than one year.
3. That the city engineer prepare reports on the amount of work which can be carried out during the winter, add to prepare for sewer work attention in the event of a sewer by-law passing next December.
4. That the airport superintendent be instructed to report on all work that can be reasonably carried out during the winter, and the park board be asked to consider clearing the forebore from the English Bay entrance to Stanley Park to Swash Rock.
5. That the exhibition board be approached with a view to building a golf driving fairway at the southeast

Broadcast Headliners

Montreal, July 30.—Canadians will be enabled to follow every movement of the R-100, Britain's great new air liner now making the first transatlantic flight by a British dirigible in eleven years, by means of the radio transmission system of the Canadian Pacific telegraphs. It was stated from headquarters of the company here yesterday. After passing mid-ocean the airship will be in direct communication with Canadian stations and messages will begin to come into St. Hubert, whether the dirigible is heading.

Poster Hewitt, Toronto Star sport writer, and one of the most popular and best known sport announcers on Canadian air circuits, will broadcast for the Canadian Pacific Railway, in addition to the official messages sent out. He is due to arrive in Montreal to-day, and will be stationed at St. Hubert, where he will be in direct touch both with the airship and with Canadian Pacific transmitting stations. His messages will be carried by the company's radio service over the whole Dominion from Halifax to Vancouver.

Mr. Hewitt rates very high among announcers, his witty and concise summaries of events at the moment of their happening, having earned him his deserved popularity among radio fans. According to the latest report, the R-100 is scheduled to arrive at St. Hubert, near Montreal, early Friday morning, but messages should be received and transmitted by Canadian air service sometime Thursday night.

CKWX, Vancouver, will carry reports on the R-100.

WHEAT COST CAN BE CUT TO 67C BUSHEL

That Is Report of Survey on Soil Fertility Made to President Hoover

Washington, July 30.—Depleted fertility of the soil is a vital factor in the farm problem, according to a survey of wheat production submitted to President Hoover, Chairman Legge and Secretary Hyde, by Horace Bowker, president of the American Agricultural Chemical Company.

In his report made public to-day, Mr. Bowker asserts that wheat yields have been reduced to a low average of twelve bushels an acre, produced at a cost of $12.75 an acre, or $1.14 a bushel. However, where the fertility of the soil is adequately restored by efficient farming practice, Mr. Bowker says, the cost of growing wheat is reduced to an average of sixty-seven cents a bushel.

"The farmer's handicaps are many," the survey says. "He is entitled to the constructive aid of his government in solving his problems. But the greatest service which can be rendered to the farmer at this juncture is to emphasize quite frankly the inescapable fact that only through greater efficiency is it possible to place his business on a profitable basis. The survey clearly shows that lowered unit production cost is a most important step in the direction of sound farming, it demonstrates the basic economy of making each acre placed under cultivation produce the largest possible yield in order to reduce the unit cost of growing the crop to the lowest obtainable point."

San Francisco, July 30.—The captain and crew of three of the Canadian motorboats, Ray Roberts, seized thirty miles south of the Golden Gate Monday with 1,050 cases of whisky in its hold, yesterday were served with Federal warrants charging conspiracy. Harry Faulkner, their attorney, attempted to arrange bail.

The quartet, Captain James W. Moran, Eric McMillan, Gus Alfredson and John Woods, told customs agents they had been signed on at Vancouver in January and sailed south to the Mexican coast, where they had taken cargo of liquor from several "mother ships," and brought them close to the California shore for delivery to fast motorboats.

The men said they had been hired by the General Navigation Company, but Faulkner declined to say who had engaged him to represent them. He intimated he might dispute the coast-guard assertion the Ray Roberts was inside the twelve-mile limit when seized.

In P.E.I. Ridings

Charlottetown, P.E.I., July 30.—Commenting on Federal election results in Prince Edward Island, Hon. Walter M.
Lee, Premier of the Province, said:
"The result of the election was largely attributable to the delay in nominating Liberal candidates in Quebec and the early organization and the personal canvass of their opponents. The result in Kings, always a close constituency was not so surprising. A. E. McLean maintained his large majority in Prince. The total popular vote of the Province gave the Liberals a small majority."
The Island returned one Liberal and three Conservatives.

TALK REPORTED BY
MONTREAL GAZETTEMontreal, July 30.—The Montreal
Gazette this morning said that although the smoke of battle had not yet risen from the Federal field of battle, the political mind in Montreal was turning to thoughts of a provincial general election."That there is a strong faction in the provincial Liberal ranks which wishes to have an election is quite clear, but, on the other hand, it is a well-known fact that Premier L. A. Taschereau is not friendly to that view," The Gazette said, "and the Premier, all things considered, has the last word."In support of the election proposal, said The Gazette, "this section of the Liberal party believes there will be lack of unanimity in the Conservative ranks on behalf of Mayor Camille-Houde, provincial Conservative leader, because he did not see fit to get into the Federal fight and try to get two or three constituencies on the Island of Montreal."Against this aspect of the situation, however, there is the view said to be favored by Premier Taschereau, namely, that should a provincial election be suddenly called, the Conservative Federal members-elect would dash into the fight on behalf of Mayor Houde, ignoring the alleged tactical error charged against Mr. Houde and thinking only of the general interests of the party in Quebec.The present Legislature can legally continue in office for another two years, having been elected in the fall of 1927 for a five-year term, though the usual custom has been to have an election each four years.$4,000,000 IS DAMAGE FROM TURKEY STORM

Istanbul, Turkey, July 30.—Refugees began to arrive here yesterday from Adrianople with tidings of the storm of Sunday in which, according to latest reports, twenty-two persons lost their lives and damage was caused to the extent of about $4,000,000.

According to eye-witnesses the tornado was the worst in the Balkans in the last 100 years.

The famous Mosque of Sultan Selim
II, an impressive sixteenth century edifice, suffered damage of at least $50-000. The mosque is the most notable building in Adrianople. It has a porch of columns carved from single stones, and is flanked by four slender fluted minarets, each about 300 feet high. The span of the dome is 106 feet, one of the largest in existence.

Much of the damage was caused to the dome and the minarets.

The Jewish quarter escaped with little damage. Thousands of works, of various smaller birds, according to refugees, were killed by hail. The birds fell in the street amid the debris.

Yesterday it was said, many of the population were still within their homes, afraid to emerge.

CONFERENCE OF
EMPIRE LEADERS
HAS BIG TASKS

London, July 30.—The Imperial Conference must face constitutional problems of unprecedented difficulty, Premier Ramsay MacDonald told a meeting of the United Kingdom branch of the Empire Parliamentary Association, in Westminster Hall yesterday.

This year would be one of the great, deeply marked years in history, the Premier believed. Whoever had the responsibilities connected with the Imperial Conference would succeed only by skillfully practicing the art of blending lessons of the past with the outlook on the future. While believing in party government, he felt an attempt should be made to get Empire questions considered first by all parties.

After all, he declared, the Commu-nwealth and the nations which composed it were very much greater than any other.

A FINE RECORD

ONE OF THE BEST GOVERNMENTS Canada has had will officially end its career in a few days and Mr. Bennett will form a new administration from among his substantial Conservative following. Only with the passing of time will the Canadian people know whether they decided wisely or unwisely when they voted Mr. King out of office on Monday. In the meantime, however, it is worth while surveying the admirable record the Liberal regime will leave behind it.

A government which is able to reduce taxation must be judged successful, because it indicates sound financing in the public interest. When the King government took office, for instance, the income tax was a strain upon the wage earner and the comparatively small-salaried person. First of all, to relieve this situation, came an increase in the exempted amount in respect of each child, a small increase in 1922 and a further increase in 1924. Then came an increase in the exemption limit in respect of the salaries of married persons from $2,000 to $3,000, and from $1,000 to $1,500 for others. These reductions in the liability for income tax obviously were a great boon to the man earning only a moderate salary.

One of the most irritating taxes which Canada adopted as a result of war financing was the sales tax. In 1923 it stood at the flat rate of six per cent. The King government gradually reduced it to its present rate of one per cent. It was due for abolition altogether next year; but we shall have to wait and see how Mr. Bennett will reduce taxation and find all the money he will require to get on with his billion-dollar public works programme.

To the King government belongs the credit for restoring two-cent postage between Canada and the other parts of the empire. Cuts in the cheque tax and removal of the tax altogether on receipts also are on the record. As a result of these tax reductions, incidentally, it is estimated that in five years remission of taxation amounted to the enormous sum of $116,000,000 a year—a direct annual saving to the people of this country. Here is an accomplishment of which any government may be proud. There is nothing to equal it in any other part of the empire.

But the story is by no means complete with this account of taxation reduction. In the period from 1922 until the dissolution of Parliament revenues increased, foreign and domestic trade expanded, while the national debt was reduced by something like $270,000,000. If Mr. Bennett shall be able to go to the country four years from now pointing to proportionate reductions in taxation, with a proportionate increase in business, he will have proved himself a successful Prime Minister.

BRISTOL'S GREAT POWER SCHEME

THE WHOLE SOUTHWEST OF ENGLAND is being electrified from the new super-power station at Portishead, Bristol. The industrial development which is taking place in Britain is confined to the South of England, and Bristol, with its three sets of docks at Avonmouth, Portishead and in the city, is able now to provide the two essentials of industry—cheap power and cheap transport. The railway facilities at Bristol are being revolutionized and the most up-to-date goods depot in the country has already been constructed.

At the opening ceremony at the new electricity station there were altogether between 700 and 800 visitors, and the chief guests were Sir Andrew R. Duncan, chairman of the Central Electricity Board; Sir Archibald Page, Chief Engineer and Manager of the board, and Sir Felix Pole of the Metropolitan Vickers Company.

The vast area to be covered by the scheme includes the whole of South Wales, the counties of Hereford, Somerset, Devon, Cornwall, Dorset, Wiltshire and parts of the counties of Gloucestershire and Oxfordshire, and the Isle of Wight. The extent of the area is 17,090 square miles, and the population at the last census was approximately 6,164,180. The aggregate maximum load on the undertaking during the winter of 1927-1928 was 207,156 kilowatts, and it is estimated that the aggregate maximum load by the winter of 1942-1943 will amount to 828,500 kilowatts. Sales of electricity in the area during the year 1927-1928 amounted to 470,000,000 units, an average of seventy-seven units per head of population. The sales of electricity to consumers in 1942-1943 are estimated to reach a total of 2,188,000,000 units, a stupendous increase.

Some time will elapse before the system is fully organized, but when that happens, and when places now far from Bristol are drawing their current from the main reservoir at Portishead, a revolution will have been wrought.

RAILROAD WHISTLES

RAILROAD MEN BELIEVE THAT they will eventually be able to devise a railroad whistle which will shoot its shaft of noise directly to the railroad crossing instead of scattering it all over the countryside; and while this would be highly efficient, and while any step to diminish the daily amount of noise in this noise-ridden civilization of ours ought to be welcomed, we are not sure that we are entirely in favor of this plan.

The railroad whistle is in a class by itself. It is one of the most romantic sounds one ever hears. To lie in bed, late at night, and hear some distant whistling for a crossing, is to experience the feeling that one has heard the eerie horns of elfland blowing beyond the horizon. The note is haunting beyond words, with an insistent melancholy that defies description. We should be sorry to be deprived of it.

WHAT ABOUT THE WATT CASE?

MORE THAN FOUR MONTHS AGO the Legislature of British Columbia ordered an inquiry into the case of Norman Watt because it was far from satisfied with the manner in which he had been treated by the Tolmie government. Mr. Shelly dismissed Mr. Watt from his position as government agent at Prince Rupert in a summary fashion. The first reason the Minister of Finance gave for his action was that Mr. Watt had been "playing politics." The second reason he gave was that Mr. Watt had retained government funds—coroner's fees which always had been considered a perquisite of the office of government agent at Prince Rupert and certain other districts in the province. The resolution of the House, therefore, originated more in a general desire to investigate Mr. Shelly than it did to investigate Mr. Watt.

Soon after the Legislature had prorogued Mr. Pattullo asked the Minister of Finance to proceed with the inquiry. No action was taken; Mr. Pattullo drew the matter to the Minister's attention again on several occasions with no success. The last reminder, however, reached Mr. Shelly after the date of the federal election had been announced. The Minister seized upon this as justification for telling Mr. Pattullo that he was pursuing "despicable tactics" by asking that the inquiry—a purely provincial matter and nothing whatever to do with either Mr. King or Mr. Bennett—be proceeded with at this time. Mr. Pattullo appealed to Dr. Tolmie, who either had to rebuke his Minister of Finance for his politically indecent remark, or back him up. He followed the natural course and announced that the inquiry would have to wait until after July 28.

The public may draw its own conclusions from the failure to proceed with this case—to lift the cloud under which this man Watt, a war veteran who will carry the scars of battle to his grave, has been compelled to live as a result of the slur cast upon his honor and reputation by a Minister of the Crown. It surmised that the government was afraid of the consequences of the inquiry, afraid of the effect it might have upon the fortunes of the Conservative party in this province on July 28.

The Watt case may have had something to do with the complete eclipse of the Conservative cause on the lower mainland on Monday. The proper thing for the government to do now, however, is to hold the inquiry which the Legislature ordered more than four months ago.

NOT BY A LONG SHOT

IT IS DIFFICULT TO UNDERSTAND why anybody in Great Britain regards the result of the election in Canada on Monday as a triumph for empire free trade. Although this country had not been invited to participate in the project in any way, it will be recalled that its chief opponents and critics were Canadian Conservatives and Canadian Conservative newspapers. "The Beaverbrook Ballyhoo" and other equally nasty names were freely employed to ridicule it. Small wonder, of course, because the Conservative party of Canada is the high tariff party. If Lord Beaverbrook ever had any hope that his proposal would find support in this country, that hope rested with the government which has just been beaten.

The people of this Dominion have given a mandate to a political party which is pledged to the hilt to high tariffs. Its policy will be to increase duties on British goods, no matter what the present British government or governments that will succeed it may do. Those duties will stand. At no distant date Britain undoubtedly will tax many foreign manufactured products; but there is no prospect of any political party over there undertaking to put a tax on food. This is where Canada's interest in the Bennett policy comes in. Britain will arrange her importing business so as to give the advantage to those countries who consider her in their tariffs.

Apart, therefore, from the fact that Mr. Bennett's success at the polls on Monday sounded the death knell to lower Canadian duties on British goods—not to mention the free admission of such goods—the Beaverbrook party's most formidable obstacle lies in Britain. The only prospect it had of success here lay in the attitude of the King government, whose policy had for its cornerstone economic co-operation between the nations of the empire. The Canadian people have decided against that policy. When Mr. Bennett goes to the Imperial Economic Conference he will have to tell Lord Beaverbrook that Canada's tariff wall will be against British as well as foreign goods.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

IMPORTS OF RUSSIAN COAL

The Philadelphia Leader.

Last year the Soviet Government sent 180,000 tons of anthracite into this country to be sold at below the domestic price. There is evidence that large additional quantities have come in this year and have been sold even below the cost of production here. There seems no doubt that this Russian coal is mined by virtually forced labor.

COLLARS

The Edmonton Journal

Collars are a nuisance. Much has been written about the illogic of man's dress, about trousers that are ugly, coats that are not, sox that are always slipping down; but of the twenty odd items of apparel (counting collar buttons) that a man wears at business, collars take the palm for inequity.

One of the first things that many a man does when he settles down to the evening paper is to take off his collar and hang it over the back of the chair. Then for the first time in the day he is free from the bond of uniformity. For of all the articles of male dress, except shoes, the collar is the one in which no man can exercise his individuality. His neck may be thick or lean, long or short, wrinkled or smooth, but once inside a collar his neck is no longer his neck; it is simply neck. And as neck, man is always conscious of it, conscious of that constant, irritating pressure of firm linen, that stricture to the flow of eloquence, that tourniquet on the wind-pipe and vocal chords. So when man goes home to his wife, he takes his collar off.

A THOUGHT

And God looked upon the earth and, behold, it was corrupt; for all flesh had corrupted his way upon the earth.—Genesis vi 12.

Loose Ends

The law rescues the Babies Bamberger and Watkins—Mr. Agn is a disappointing exhibit — and our caterpillars refuse to be cured.

By H. B. W.

DOUBTLESS YOU have been reading in the newspapers about the strange case of the Watkins Baby and the Bamberger Baby, whose frantic parents have been trying to sort them out in a Chicago Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Watkins, you will recall, found, a few days after Mrs. Watkins returned from Englewood Hospital with her son, that on his back was a square of adhesive tape which read "Bamberger." Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bamberger were hastily summoned and they found a similar piece of adhesive tape on their baby's back marked "Watkins." Whereupon ophthalmologists, dermatologists, pathologists, anthropologists and criminologists were called in to determine which baby was which. These gentry did their best, but finally, after many hours of investigation, could not decide whether the babies or the adhesive tapes had been confused in the hospital. Thereupon the controversy developed into a remarkable commentary on the progress of civilization. A hundred years ago, the barbarous mothers of that time would have claimed their own babies without any question by their kind of blind instinct. But those days of darkness are gone. The Bambergers and the Watkins are taking advantage of our superior ways of living. They are going to carry their babies to the courts and let the courts decide. And the courts having decided, according to our excellent way of living, it will rest matter to which Mr. Agn's record grows up to be a Bamberger and Baby Bamberger develops into a Watkins.

ZARO AGA, a Turkish porter who claims to be 160 years old, and has never touched liquor or tobacco, has come to the United States and is being widely shown as a temperance exhibit. This seemed an excellent idea until they began to search Mr. Agn's record and found that he is not the paragon of continence which had been supposed. He has had eleven wives and is said to be looking for another. If he married at twenty his first wife would have been wearing the fashions of 1790, which are rather out of date now. Assuming that all his wives enjoyed an equal share of his separate company, and that he promptly married one the day after the other died, each lived rather less than thirteen years after marriage, according to a complicated calculation just completed by The Manchester Guardian. This record will hardly appeal to the women prohibitionists of the United States, while the average man on this side of the water will scarcely swear off drinking altogether because this is likely to give him thirteen wives. As a prohibition argument I fear Mr. Agn is a wash-out.

AS FAR AS tobacco is concerned, its reputation in the world has lately been raised beyond all question. From England it was revealed the other day that Queen Mary is a consistent, though moderate smoker, and now I find a correspondent informing the readers of a British paper of the smoking habits of the highest officers of the Catholic Church, as follows: "When the Pope smokes, he likes a good Havana cigar, but he smokes very little. His Secretary of State, Cardinal Gasparri, however, is a pipe-smoker, but more than that—a pipe collector and connoisseur, in fact. He has numerous racks of pipes of all shapes and sizes, though his favorite is a short, well-matured meerschaum. Every morning, as he comes several more pipes from friends and well-wishers all over the world. Last any manufacturer of a stylish proprietary brand of tobacco is tempted to hasten off hoping to Rome to discover whether, perchance, his be the eminent Cardinal's favorite. It is hard to add that the mixture in question is a cheap Italian one, the pungency of which used to bother the late Pope Benedict XV so much that the Cardinal had to abstain from smoking while in the same room!"

AFTER THAT there can be no question that smoking is highly respectable. The question now is whether one can refrain from smoking and still be fit for respectable society.

IF YOU HAVE been fighting caterpillars in your garden this year, as we have been doing out our way, you will be interested in the history of the first old art of caterpillar fighting as revealed by recent researches in England. According to recent research, in the year 1120 the Bishop of Laon pronounced a solemn sentence of excommunication against the caterpillars and gnashoppers which were ravaging his diocese, and the same procedure seems to have been widely followed. As late as 1818 an episcopal admonition was published which declared: "We grant the request of the inhabitants of Villeneuve and warn the caterpillars to retire within six days, in default of which we declare them excommunicated and accursed." With a nice sense of fair play, an advocate was appointed on behalf of the insects and the caterpillars were allowed to plead their case in court in due form. This undoubtedly was an excellent arrangement when the world was a more godly place than it is now. It is a melancholy evidence of the declining piety of our civilization that out our way the caterpillars would treat an order of excommunication with contempt. I know because I have cursed them to the limit of my vocabulary all this season. All they understand is a good old-fashioned squash, applied between the thumb and forefinger or under the heel of a heavy boot.

Tired and Run-down

"Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was always feeling tired, weak and run-down and I worried over things. Since taking the Compound that feeling has left me. I can work now and not get so tired. I do my wash and take care of my house and three children. I eat and sleep better. In fact, I feel better in every way. I will answer letters from interested women at any time." — Mrs. H. C. Fletcher, 127 Smith St., Peterboro, Ontario.

Needed Room

A recruit wearing No. 14 shoes had enlisted in the army. One day the officer missed him and asked: "Has anyone seen O'Halloran?"

"Yes," said a voice, "he's gone up to the cross-roads to turn around!"

Quite Naturally

The Irish convict had missed an article of his personal kit. He demanded an interview with the warden. The interview was conceded.

"Sorr," began the convict, loudly, "there's a thief in this prison."

Miss Nixon is another of the Hollywood stars who use Kissproof—the natural, lasting lipstick. At all toilet counters.

YOUR BABY and MINE

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal note.

SHALL CHILD BE TAUGHT TO DEFEND HIMSELF?

Hitting back when hit seems to be one of those natural responses which need not be taught, which develop of themselves when the opportune moment arrives. Usually one need not say to a child, "Take your own part, sonny, and hit him if he hits you," because the child does this spontaneously if he is struck.

The child who cannot take his own part may be cowed at home and dares not raise his hand in self defense. We advocate unalterably no slapping on the part of the parent, but rather allowing the child to learn by experience how to take his own part when playing with other children. The adult is an unfair opponent, but few children, even if uncowed by the parent, will stand being hit by another child. The child who flies to his mother, crying for protection, invites the slaps and bullying of the whole neighborhood. Give your child a feeling of courage and self-reliance by not taking unfair advantage of his weakness, and he'll take care of himself outside the home.

NEVER CONSTIPATED

Mrs. F. N. says her babies are Eldred-reared ones. She asks: "Am I intolerant to say that no child be the victim of chronic constipation? My five-year-old and twenty-month-old have never had a physic, though the baby was constipated when first put on a bottle, a matter which was regulated by changes in the formula. In one breath people say: 'What do you feed such healthy children?' and in the next: 'Oh, it is just natural for them to be fat, for I give mine everything and see how thin he is.' You'd be as proud of my babies as I am, Mrs. Eldred, for your columns and leaflets helped me rear them.

"The big problem now is to slap or not to slap! I have been recently confirmed in the idea that if a child is taught to slap back he forfeits the 'back' and just slaps. I have never been quarrelsome and do not regret it, while my friends who won't take anything seem to have to live up to their reputation and have something to resent all the time."

QUARRELING TEACHES PEACE

Just one word more about the quarreling. Don't you think you confuse the question by comparing adults and children? Children are in a primitive stage of development and quarrel to learn how to keep peace. By the time a person is grown he should have learned how to keep peace without quarreling. If he hasn't, he is still a child.

Constipation is a bad habit induced by too frequent use of laxatives and physics. Children who are really constipated, from failure of muscles to act or poor diet, need a better diet to build up all muscles, mechanical irritants to stimulate action, sometimes stretching of a too-small rectum, sometimes adhesive band strappings to give firmness to a flabby, fat abdomen, and always a readjustment of the diet to give a child something to secrete. It is useless and criminal to keep doing a baby, thus encouraging daily movements when the natural materials for such secretion are absent from the diet.

MUSTAPHA KEMAL IS IN LOVE AGAIN

Beauty Contest Winner Stirs Anew Heart of Man of Many Affairs

Constantinople, July 30.—Mustapha Kemal, president of the Turkish Republic, has fallen in love again, and all of Turkey that is those who know about it are waiting curiously to see if the pretty Mile, Mubedjel Hamen, sixteen-year-old beauty contest winner, will become the first lady of the land.

The Turkish press, well disciplined and censored, naturally has made no comment upon the Ghazi's infatuation with the maid who has just de-throned Mile. Feriha Tewfik, Turkey's representative in the international beauty contest in the United States last year. But it has printed columns about the rivalry that has resulted from Mile. Mubedjel's selection for 1930 Queen, when last year's winner was ranked second. The Turkish regular press of Arabia, Syria, Egypt and Macedonia, however, is following with interest the Ghazi's affairs of the heart—which are many.

FASCINATED BY MANY

Ever since he divorced Latife Hanoum, dashing and wealthy Smyrnee debutante, who shared honors with him in the days of his first political successes, Mustapha Kemal has sworn that he would never take another wife. He has been fascinated many times, and his interest in Mile. Mubedjel has extended to "inviting" her to be his guest at Yalova, a watering place near Constantinople, where he is taking the cure. Although Mustapha-Kemal is not a king, his invitations are considered as commands, and none in Turkey would dare refuse to obey a command.

For three days Mile. Mubedjel is reported to have remained at Yalova as Kemal's guest. If she returns the odds will be even that the Ghazi's infatuation is more than passing.

The Turkish President's interest in the sixteen-year-old maiden began when, taking part in a gigantic demonstration at Constantinople in honor of her selection as Turkey's beauty queen, he personally congratulated her. Some months later when all thought the Ghazi had forgotten her, she received the order to join him at Yalova.

HIS AFFAIRS ARE LEGION

Kemal's affairs of the heart are known to be legion. Everyone in Turkey takes them for granted. As the man who drove the invaders from Anatolia, his subjects will forgive him anything. His personal excesses, which led to the rupture with Latife Hanoum, are scarcely mentioned except in the diplomatic colony, where they have "a story a day" to recount about Kemal and his doings.

They still relate the story of a recent official soiree to celebrate Turkey's independence and the founding of the republic, at Ankara, where the Ghazi received a distinguished group of foreign statesmen. Ten evening, had scarcely started when a beautiful Turkish dancer, who appeared as an entertainer, attracted the Ghazi's eye. When the applause ended and she had done her bit he sent for her and personally congratulated her on her dancing. Then, as an afterthought, suggested that she might like to accompany him for a party at his residence. Naturally the dancer could do nothing but accept, since the invitation had been given in public. Offering her his arm, the Ghazi, without troubling to bid his guests adieu, walked from the hall, flanked by his two military aides, Gen. Said Fasha and Gen. Fehri Fasha.

AUTHOR OF NEW CALENDAR WILL SPEAK IN CITY

Moses B. Cotsworth Will Address
Joint Luncheon Meeting in Empress

Members of the Victoria Canadian Club and the Victoria Rotary Club will have a chance to hear the author of the famous Cotsworth thirteen month calendar on Thursday, August 7, when Moses B. Cotsworth will address a joint luncheon meeting of these two clubs in the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Cotsworth rose from the obscurity of a statistician for an English railway to become a nationally-known figure on account of his proposed change in the calendar. He should prove a most interesting speaker.

Mr. Cotsworth, it will be remembered, appeared before a special committee of inquiry of the League of Nations appointed after the war to consider calendar reform. While many schemes were placed before the committee at that time, the one that received the most attention and publicity was that of Mr. Cotsworth.

PIANO CLASS PUPILS PASS EXAMINATIONS

Winifred Applegate, aged nine years; Dick Higgins, eight years; Harvey Minnie, ten years, all taught in class, were successful in passing the introductory School Grade piano examination at the Toronto Conservatory held in June, in which Margaret Worth, ten years, won with honors in the Elementary School Grade exam. She was also successful in the Victoria Musical Festival of 1929 and 1930. The two boys had their first lesson in a piano class in January this year. All the children who took the exam passed with good marks, there being a difference of only four marks between the lowest and the highest marking.

OFFICIAL COUNT SHOWS VOTE IN VICTORIA 14,749

Majority For Plunkett Is 1,964
According to Figures of Returning Officer

The official count of the Victoria ballots in Monday's election increased the total vote to nearly fifteen thousand, according to figures released by H. E. A. Courtney, Returning Officer. The final figures were: D. B. Plunkett, Conservative, 8,308; Stuart Henderson, Liberal, 6,344. Mr. Plunkett's majority is therefore 1,964; the total vote cast being 14,749. Ninety-seven ballots were rejected. This is the heaviest vote in the memory of present returning officials.

The voters' list for Victoria contained approximately 22,000 names. At the general election of 1926, 16,734 names were on the voters' list of whom 10,935 actually voted.

The official count of the ballots proceeded all day yesterday at Room 224, Pemberton Building, at the offices of Mr. Courtney, under his direction, and was concluded shortly before 6 o'clock last night.

Prominent Winnipeg Man
Tells of Remarkable Experience With Sargon

There is probably not a man in Winnipeg who has more friends or is more highly regarded by his business associates and acquaintances than James
W. Swan, Superintendent of Manitoba

JAMES W. SWAN

for the Protective Association of Canada. He has been prominently identified with the insurance business of Winnipeg for twelve years, and for twenty-five years was City Ticket Agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway at Ottawa. Mr. Swan stands high in fraternal circles, being a charter member of the Winnipeg F. and A.M. Lodge No. 128. He also belongs to the Maple Leaf Lodge of Orange-men and Amity Lodge No. 8 of the Odd Fellows, at Prescott, Ont.

Mr. Swan's recent endorsement of Sargon, the new scientific medicine that has created such a sensation throughout the Dominion, is a high tribute to its genuine merit and the manufacturers of this modern preparation point with pride to the following statement he made, telling of the splendid results he derived from its use:

"I consider that I am doing a man a favor when I recommend Sargon to him because I know from my own experience that if he takes it according to directions, and gives it a fair trial, he will be repaid a thousand times for his trouble.

"Chronic constipation was at the bottom of my troubles and I suffered with it for twenty-five years, until my digestion and whole nervous system was just about shot to pieces. My appetite was poor; I couldn't eat or sleep with any comfort and the toxic poisons kept me feeling so tired and listless, it took all the will power I had at times to keep going.

"It seemed like everybody in Winnipeg was talking about this new Sargon medicine, so I decided to try it and I couldn't have gotten better results if it had been made especially for my case. Four bottles of the Sargon tonic rid me of every trace of indigestion and gave me the best appetite I've had in years. I hardly know what nerves are any more and the sound sleep I'm enjoying gets me up in the mornings feeling refreshed and brimful of energy.

"One of the most amazing things to me is the way Sargon Soft Mass Pills completely relieved me of constipation. I don't believe there was a medicine made that could permanently overcome this terrible affliction, but two bottles of Sargon 'ills have given me a regularity of movement I hadn't known for twenty-five years. I can't remember when I've felt better or been in better all-round physical condition."

Sargon may be obtained in Victoria and Vancouver from all Owl Drug Stores; in New Westminster, from the Beve Drug Co., and in Esquimalt from Fulmer's Drug Store. (Adv.)

Hon. S. F. Tolmie Will Open
Seventh Annual Display Here

Premier Tolmie will open the seventh annual exhibition of the Victoria Horticultural Society on Friday next at 2:45 o'clock. The show will be held in the Shrine Hall, View Street, and will continue until Saturday evening, when the prizes will be presented by Mrs. Anascomb.

The exhibition is expected to be the best on record as an unusually attractive display of exhibits have been promised. The exhibition is under the supervision of A. Green.

In addition to the large entry by competitors, there will be a number of commercial exhibits of exceptionally interesting character, among these being the display by the Victoria Floral Company, E. M. Palmer of Cobble Hill, C. S. McTavish and W. J. Savory Seed and Floral Company. Some fine blooms will be shown by H. H. Reed, head gardener at the Parliament Building.

Since publishing its catalogue, the Horticultural Society has decided to open a special class for peaches, and for this two special prizes have been offered by Savory's.

The two coveted trophies offered by the society this year are the challenge trophy for group display filling thirty-six square feet, presented by Avkey's, 624 Yates Street; and the society's challenge trophy for best display of cut flowers in the same space as above.

Dr. Arthur Price, vice-president of the society, has renewed his offer of a challenge cup for best display of sweet peas in the show.

Entries are expected to be in by this evening, the secretary, F. E. Boulter, announces.

Attention is again called to the decorated table contest, which is to be open to men competitors as well as ladies. The awarding of the prizes will be by popular vote, all those attending the show on Friday being entitled to ballot.

ITALY VOTES $5,230,000 FOR REBUILDING

Rome, July 30.—The Italian Council of Ministers, directed by the Duce, yesterday, came to the rescue of the earthquake stricken zone of the Apennines with an appropriation of 100,000,000 lire, (about $5,230,000) for the rebuilding of its ruined cities and towns.

Premier Mussolini instructed Minister of Public Works Crollalanza to return to supervise reconstruction of thousands of shattered homes and other buildings.

The houses will be rebuilt with materials better able to resist earth shocks and in many cases the historic character of towns and villages will be saved. The cities where formerly earthquake shocks have been less violent.

A note of cheer came to Rome in the report of the Under-Secretary of Public Works Leoni, that the entire district was returning to normal activity. The troops engaged in salvage work are leaving and the food problem has been solved.

Emergency rations have been greatly cut.

Child refugees from the quake area yesterday began arriving here, which with other cities is caring for several hundred. One hundred and twelve between two and twelve years of age, arrived from Lacedonia, Agulonia and Discolia.

THE GENERAL WAREHOUSE LTD.

1110-14 Government St. Phone 2170. Store Open Saturday Evenings Till 9 o'Clock

The popular Vancouver store, the Mikado, alas-hang in the very heart of the business section on Granville Street, known for its exclusive and high-grade merchandise and a rendezvous for women of good taste, has been forced by the creditors to assign—in other words the Mikado has gone broke.

The stock and fixtures were offered for sale by tender with the stipulation that the purchaser was to clear everything out to the bare walls within three days, as new tenants wished to occupy the store on the fourth day.

The live-wire business men of Vancouver, probably due to golf appointments and creditors' meetings, delayed to put in a tender. Consequently the stock was knocked down to the General Warehouse Limited for 30c ON THE DOLLAR.

The contract for packing and shipping of the entire stock amounting to $37,000 was fulfilled. The last wagon load left at 9 p.m. the third day, the store being ready for the new tenants at $650.00 per month the following day.

And then they say Victoria merchants are dead?

New Westminster Gains First Leg On Soccer Championship

THE SPORTS MIRROR

JACK ROBINSON, manager of Bat-ling Nelson years ago, says that fighters will be more careful not to foul if they know every punch will be allowed to count, with no foul claims possible, as the rules now stand in New York State. The idea is that a man won't punch low if he knows that his opponent will punch low right back and get even with him. Well, maybe not.

In New Jersey the difficulty is not so much in protecting the customers as in protecting the referees. Managers who thought their fighters had received poor decisions have been jumping into the ring to take a punch at the referee. Henry Lewis solved the problem recently when Joe Glick's manager rushed at him adopting an aggressive tactics himself and knocking the fight out of that gentleman with several well-timed and hefty punches. If that isn't giving the fight crowd a money's worth, what is? We'd like to see some fighter manager step in and pick a quarrel when Jack Dempsey is referee. But even fighter managers aren't that nifty.

In these days of large pitching staffs and frequent hits it is strange to look back at some of the pennant-winning teams of past years and see what they had on the mound. The Boston Braves (shadow of greatness) in 1914 relied upon a staff of three mountaineers, to wit: Bill James, Lefty Tyler and Dick Rudolph. And these boys not only won the pennant, but won the world's series in four straight games, the first team to do this.

All the heavy hitters say there is no such thing as a lively ball, and that the pitching is poor. And that the pitchers say that they wouldn't hit the ball out of the infield in former years are now breaking windows outside the fence, because the ball has a Mexican life now. It is, or something. The only people who are fully qualified to judge the ball are the manufacturers, and they are keeping discreetly silent.

Whatever is happening to the present-day baseball, 1930 is certainly witnessing the turnout of some lackluster women. Stella Walsh has set new running marks, not yet accepted for the 100 and 200 yard dashes, and has broadjumped eighteen feet nine and three-eighths inches to eclipse two former world record by almost two inches. That's nowhere near the masculine record, but women haven't had the practice dodging dishes.

And the Seattle swimmer, Helene Madison, broke four world swimming records in less than a week at the National A.A.U. meet at Long Beach. Since that time she has been smashing world marks like nines. Don't forget that Miss Madison swims everything in the way of distance, and that one of the records she set at the A.A.U. meet for the 100 yards, which she made in more than twenty-two seconds, better time than the former record holder.

In Germany Fraulein Braumiller threw the javelin 132 feet 10-1/2 inches, more than six feet past the world's mark set by Fraulein Hargus in 1928. Much has been written about Bobby Jones' shroud slip in the British Open which made him take seven on the par five eighth hole at Hoylake, when he was within a few yards of the green in two. A golfer sigh with relief, and say that it shows Bobby is really human, and that he can't always be consistent. Yes, look at his score on the par five hole for each of the four rounds—first round 4; second round 4; third round 4; fourth round 7. Add them up, total on that hole for four rounds, 19. Divide by four. Average 4-3/4 strokes for par five hole. Inconsistent? Oh, yes.

Winnipeg, Man., July 30.—New Westminster Royals had neared the end of the comeback trail to Dominion soccer supremacy to-day. The pedestal was just one jump away. The champions of two years ago yesterday evening defeated Montreal Canadian Nationals, 1 to 0, in the first game of the Connaught Cup final on a penalty kick and to-morrow will fight to make it two straight and relieve Nationals of the title they won in 1929.

PRIMO MAKES SHORT WORK OF G. COOK

Huge Italian Heavyweight Knocks Out Australian Champion in Second Round

Cook in on Receiving End Most of Time and Left Hook Ends Fracas

Cleveland, July 30.—Primo Carners, the Italian heavyweight boxer, yesterday added a second-round knockout over George Cook, who claims the Australian heavyweight championship, to his string of victories, before a crowd estimated at 10,000 at Taylor Bowl here. The bout was scheduled to go ten rounds.

Cook went down for the count under a ponderous left to the jaw after one minute and forty-four seconds of the second round had passed. He had been on the receiving end of most of the blows struck right from the start. Carners helped carry him to his corner. They started the first round with a couple of Carners left-taps to the jaw and a Cook clinch. Cook then gave two lefts to the jaw for one left to the chin. Carners gave a left and right to the chin coming out of a clinch, and they traded lefts to the head.

Three heavy smacks on the jaw from Primo's huge left sent Cook into a clinch at the end. After a brief spring tiff to start the second, Cook rushed in with a left to the jaw and repeated the charge with a left to the body. Carners drove Cook to the ropes with a right to the kidneys. Carners thumped a couple of heavy lefts and rights to the jaw and then added another left with more steam behind it, and Cook went down for the count of ten.

Carners weighed 270 pounds against Cook's 200.

DOC TODD IN SHUTOUT WIN

Pitches Fords to 16 to 0 Victory Over Dodgers in Garage League Ball

Credit the first shut-out of the present Garage League season to Doc Todd and the Fords ball nine. The veteran right hander of the league leaders held the Dodgers in the hollow of his hand yesterday evening at the Royal Athletic Park, while his mates pounded the apple to all corners of the lot for an easy 16 to 0 victory. The defeat seriously jeopardized Dodge's chances for a play-off berth.

Miles was on the mound for the losers, but did not display his usual amount of stuff and proved rather easy pickings for the heavy-hitting Fords. Batteries—Miles and Wilkinson; Todd and Williams. Umpire—Allie McGregor. To-morrow the Buicks battle the Beggs. Victory for the former will practically clinch them a place in the postseason play-offs.

Ellsworth Vines In Second Straight Win Over Shields

Seabright, N.J., July 30.—Scoring his second victory over Frank Shields in less than a week, Ellsworth Vines, eighteen-year-old sensation from Pasadena, Cal., won the thirty-seventh annual invitation tennis tournament of the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket Club yesterday.

Advancing to the third round with Vines were Frank Hunter, whom Vines defeated in the finals of the Metro-politan turf court event; Julius Seligson, New York; Sydney R. Wood, Jr., Pasadena, Cal.; David N. Jones, New York; J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N.J.; Clifford Butler, New Orleans, and Richard N. Williams, one time Davis Cup star, from Philadelphia.

Hunter eliminated Donald Cram, Nashville, yesterday, 6-3, 6-2, and Hall defeated Ted Burwell, Charlotte, N.C., 6-4, 6-2.

Marcel Rainville, Montreal, fell before Seligson, 6-4, 7-5, and Wood put up with the fellow Californian, Gerald Bartosh, Los Angeles, 6-1, 2-6, 6-3.

Klein Garners Another Batting Lead in National

New York, July 30.—Already holding the lead in four departments of baseball offense, Chuck Klein, slugger-outfielder of the Philadelphia Nationals, has taken the lead in another—most two-base hits—by knocking out two more in the first inning of the National League battle with the 407; runs with an even 100; runs batted in with 110; hits with 158; and doubles 35. In addition he is runner-up with 28 to Hank Wilson for most home runs.

Max's right hand, slightly injured in his fight with Fritz Diermer in Berlin, was not responding to Bulow's treatment. Bulow felt their funds were too low to seek high-priced advice.

Here started the first row. Max finally overruled Bulow and went to Dr. Fralich, who does tricks with athletes' bones and muscles. The surgeon removed a fragment of bone from the thumb, and soon the Schlager was right again.

Poor Bulow, who spoke little English, was given the run-around by the promoters and his impatient fighter chafed at the delay. In no time the boys were throwing mean little personalities at one another. Finally Bulow succeeded in getting a match with Joe Monte.

Toledo, July 30.—Grover Cleveland Alexander, veteran with a score of years of major-league experience, signed yesterday with the Toledo Mud Hens of the American Association.

The LIFE STORY of MAX SCHMELING

CHAPTER V

There were no brass bands to greet Max Schmeling and his manager, Herr Arthur Bulow, when they stepped down the gangplank in New York.

There was not even a countryman to shake hands with him. Bulow had ascertained where they could find cheap accommodation, and the two went to Madam Bey's pugilistic boarding house in Jersey.

Max's right hand, slightly injured in his fight with Fritz Diermer in Berlin, was not responding to Bulow's treatment. Bulow felt their funds were too low to seek high-priced advice.

Here started the first row. Max finally overruled Bulow and went to Dr. Fralich, who does tricks with athletes' bones and muscles. The surgeon removed a fragment of bone from the thumb, and soon the Schlager was right again.

Max refused to accept any more bouts under Bulow's direction and was promptly suspended by the boxing commission. He backed up with Joe Jacobs, then whom there is no cruder student of cauliflower culture. The commission and the Garden were incensed and kicked out Joe Jacobs and his whole string of fighters.

Max took it to get out of the mess took it on the lam for the provinces, where there was good waiting the German boy who looked like Dempsey.

Pittsburgh Begins To Show Strength In National League

After Much Hard Luck at Beginning of Season Pirates Have Climbed to Top of Second Division; Scored Fine Victory Over St. Louis Yesterday; New York Giants Gain as Brooklyn and Chicago Both Lose; Yankees Forge Ahead in American League by Victory, With Washington Idle, as Athletics Lost.

Pittsburgh Pirates had their full share of grief at the start of the season and as a result are pretty well out of the National League pennant race, but the Pirates, now at full strength, are right on top of the second division. They placed themselves only two games out of the first division yesterday with a 6 to 5 victory over St. Louis Cardinals. They came through with two runs in the ninth inning to win.

Meanwhile, Boston Braves bunched three hits in the tenth inning to beat the league-leading Brooklyn Robins, 4 to 3.

The Cincinnati Reds continued to display their mastery over Chicago, and kept the Cubs from gaining on Brooklyn, by winning the series final, 4 to 3. Old Zepie Riskey had a fairly easy time of it, except for Hack Wilson's thirty-third home run of the year.

This double defeat of the leaders worked in favor of the third place New York Giants, who turned on the Phillies by an 11 to 5.

BERT WILDE WINNER OF STATE TITLE

Leads Field in Washington Open By Four Strokes; Phil Taylor Second

Bellingham, Wash., July 30.—The hills and dunes of the Bellingham Golf Club course were in for a thorough combing to-day by more than 120 golfers who sought to qualify for match play in the ninth annual Washington state amateur tournament.

The two day open championship was completed yesterday with the crowning of Bert Wilde, Bellingham professional, as 1930 Washington state golfing king and the amateurs took over the course this morning for a four-day battle and maulie niblock and such like.

The open tournament wound up a duplicate of the Pacific northwestern open contest in Vancouver, where Wilde won the championship.

Phil Taylor, Victoria pro, capped second place money and Freddie Wood, Vancouver amateur, captured the Simon Furs Cup.

Wilde scored a neat 283 card, one under par, for seventy-five holes. Taylor followed him with 287 and Wood posted 289.

RODIA IS THIRD

Frank Rodia, Seattle defending champion, tied Al Zimmerman, Portland, and Curley Hueston, Seattle, for third, fourth and fifth places with 290. Don Sutherland, Vancouver, was sixth and last place money with 293.

Cecil Coville, Vancouver, was awarded second low amateur prize with 296. He was tied by Harry Winder and Dave Black, two Vancouver pros.

With a larger field reporting than was expected for the amateur tournament, it was decided to reduce the qualifying distance from thirty-six to eighteen holes.

Bon Stein, Seattle, and former western amateur champion, was an overnight entry and was figured one of the favorites to win the crown held by Al Zimmerman, his fellow tourist, won only Washington golfers are entered in the tournament.

Locals Turn Tables On Touring Mainland Net Stars

Schwengers, Gordon And Edwards Score Spectacular Wins

"Bobby" Bests Ryall in Three Sets; "Marsh" Downs Jack Brown; "Dutch" Eliminates Don Lewis; Corfield Nearly Wins From Coughlin; Favorites Run True to Form in Women's Events; Attractive Card To-day.

Victoria's men players came into their own yesterday in the second day's play of the British Columbia tennis championships at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club. Three of Victoria's leading players eliminated outside stars and all the wins were of high importance. The biggest surprise of the tournament and probably of the present tournament season occurred when Bobby Schwengers of the Kingston Street Tennis Club eliminated Ossie Ryall of Vancouver in a three-set match. Ryall is ranked at the head of the B.C. men.

Marsh Gordon, who has not shown much form this season, came back to his true standard to defeat Jack Brown of Vancouver in straight sets for the second important local win. Shortly after Gordon's win Edwards chalked up a victory over Don Lewis of Portland, for the third surprise of the day. Edwards came to life quickly after a slow start in the first set, and subdued Lewis in the succeeding two sets. The women's divisions were free from upsets the favorites finding the going to their liking.

STEADY PLAY

Schwengers played the steadiest tennis he has shown this year in defeating the elongated Ryall. Schwengers kept the ball going over the net until a forcing shot put Ryall on the defensive and he then took to the net to finish the rally. Ryall made some beautiful half volleys that passed Schwengers at the net but the latter was not discouraged and kept up his offensive. The first set went to the Victoria youth at 9-7. Ryall was the aggressor in the second set and ran Schwengers around the baseline with increasing regularity to run out the set in eight games. Schwengers took the first two games quite easily in the third set and won the third after a long session of play. Ryall got the next two but Schwengers went to 4-3 by taking one of the following two games. Ryall evened the count at four games all on the eighth game, but Schwengers went to five-four to have Ryall even the score at five all. A series of volleys brought the next two games to Schwengers and the match. The scores were 9-7, 2-6, 7-5.

BROWN ON DEFENSE

Marsh Gordon concentrated on Jack Brown's back hand from the very start and soon had the Vancouver star playing a defensive game from that side of the court. Brown's beautiful forehand worked perfectly and he secured many points in this manner but did not get enough shots to hit from that side; consequently went behind. Gordon took the first set at 6-3 and established a lead of five games to love in the second set before Brown came to realize the game was nearly over. He rallied to the extent of securing three games before Gordon ran out the set and match on the ninth game. The scores were 6-3, 6-0.

John Edwards, after somewhat of a shaky start with Don Lewis, settled down to a game that forced Lewis to play well back of the baseline because of consistent depth and pace and he was unable to get his shots going for placement. Edwards on the other hand often worked himself into a volleying position and won many points in that department. Lewis playing a steady game with some hard hitting both off the ground and on his ground shots, soon established a lead in the first set which he held throughout. Edwards, after losing the first set, 4-6 took the second at 6-3, and after some close playing in the early stages of the third, won the match by six games to four in the third set. The scores were 4-6, 6-3, 6-4. Lewis beat Ryall in the first set, 6-4. Lewis beat Ryall in the first set, 6-4. Lewis beat Ryall in the first set, 6-4.

IS IMPRESSIVE

Charlotte Miller made her first appearance of the week against Doreen Swaine when she defeated her by the loss of four games. She was impressive and is more than likely to be near the finals. Her strokes are well executed and her style is sound. She came out for a doubles with Mrs. Gross against Doreen Swaine and Velda Rittner late in the day and the southern pair won, losing two games in each set. Alice Marble, winner of the Western Canada and one of the best juniors in the state of California had little trouble in disposing of Mildred Phillips. She teamed up with Mrs. Perry to win a doubles from Helen and Norah Wilson in one of the late matches of the day.

Raymond, playing with Hammond of Los Angeles, won a strenuous three set match from Rev. Ryall and H. A. Ismay. The winners won the second and third sets after dropping the first. Jack Brown and Ryall disposed of the local team of Isaacs and Campbell in straight sets. The local players put up a good fight against the mainland pair, but could do no better than secure six games in the two sets, which were decided at 6-4, 6-2.

Helen and Jean Campbell put up a good fight against Mrs. Edwards and Mona Miller before going under in straight sets. The winners were too steady for the younger players. The scores were 6-4, 6-3.

To-day's matches will bring together some of the best local players and the Victoria contingent will be considerably lessened. Edwards meets Gordon in one of the featured singles. Schwengers through his defeat of Ryall yesterday will have easy sailing for a couple of rounds and may be the last local player in the tournament. The winner of Coughlin and Hocking and the last hope may fade in the next round.

Yesterday's results follow:

Star In Golf and Hockey

By JIMMY THOMPSON

Strange as it may seem, the Ontario Open golf title has fallen into the hands of a professional hockey player, Gordie Brydson, probably the first time in the history of the game that a golf title has been won by a pro hockey player. Not only this, but Gordie Brydson of the Maple Leafs is also an assistant pro. of a leading Toronto golf club. This may also be the first time in the golf history of this country that an assistant has won an open title. However, as Mr. Brydson would say, believe it or not, he would not be eligible to capture a championship in a purely professional tournament, the rule being that assistants are barred. Two years ago in the National Hockey League tournament at the Laval-sur-le-lac course in Montreal, he turned in the best score, but to his amazement, he discovered that all his good work had gone blooey because as a member of the Buffalo Bisons, a minor league team, he was not eligible for the trophy. Formerly as a caddy, now as an assistant, of the same club, he successfully beat the mighty Sandy Somerville of London and Lex Robinson of Toronto in a three-round tie to win the Ontario title. This feat is just another argument that shows how seriously the average pro. hockey player takes his game. Professional hockey players are keen on keeping in the best of condition the year around and the large attendance at the N.H.L. golf tourney at Forest Hill, Montreal, was a concrete example of this fact. The low score which featured the tourney showed that the boys stick consistently at the game.

SONS WILL MEET ELKS

Leading Senior Amateur League Clubs Will Hook Up This Evening

Baseball fans are looking forward to seeing a great game at the Royal Athletic Park to-night, when the Sons of Canada and Elks will clash at 6:15 o'clock. This will be the last meeting of these clubs in the regular league schedule. In their last game the Sons scored a 6 to 4 victory, with Jack Noble winning the game for the Sons in the ninth inning with a home run with two men on the base.

Young Writer Decided to Have Story Printed

William Adams said he thought he would write a story to be printed in the paper. He was always making up stories to tell the rest of the family, and now he thought he would write one down and send it into the paper to be printed. He saw stories in the paper every night, and he didn't realize they were all written by grown people, not by boys hardly in their teens.

Under the name of "Oliver Optic," he wrote many books for children that are out-of-date now, but were very popular with our grandfathers and great grandfathers. He was born in Massachusetts 108 years ago to-day.

FAMILIAR FACES MISSING FROM CANADA'S COMMONS

Ottawa, July 30.—As the search parties continue to uncover the casualties of Monday's electoral battle, it becomes more and more apparent that the House of Commons has been bereft of many of its most picturesque and entertaining members.

Just as Parliament Hill, in the course of a legislative session, presented a cross-section of the nation, so did the House of Commons chamber contain all the elements incorporated in the make-up of the average Canadian. Urbane and genial, sour and unapproachable, bashful and nervous, bold and truculent, whimsical and witty, all the qualities represented by these adjectives were found among the Commons. There were some who were polished orators and others who thought they were; some with keen analytic mind, but indifferent speakers; others whose mental processes operated in restricted and narrow grooves, but who had unusual fluency of speech.

The House of Commons will have its quota of members with much the same characteristics, but it will lack some of the elements which, in the last House, "enlivened morality with wit, and tempered wit with morality."

MARCH, RETIRES

One of the losses is that veteran Parliamentarian, Hon. Charles March, a former Speaker of the House and a gentleman who enjoyed the esteem of all parties. Bonaparte, Quebec, which for thirty years had returned Mr. March to the Commons with ever-increasing majorities, finally withdrew its favor. After three decades of public service, this seventy-year-old legislator retires.

HOW LUCHEN CANNON

Whether a seat will be found for Hon. Luchen Cannon, former Solicitor-General, is not known. Old Parliamentarians recall that it was while the Liberal Party was in opposition that Mr. Cannon was at his best as a fighter.

Thomas L. Church, Toronto, and J. C. Brady, Skeena, B.C., both Conservatives, will be missing in the new House. Mr. Brady was never dull, with a flair for pointed epigrams and the apt simile. Mr. Church always enlivened the debate. His arrows were shot indiscriminately throughout the chamber. Nor did he care much where they hit. Not infrequently their barbs sank deep into the flesh of his own party. His pet aversion was the League of Nations. Mr. Church was wont to say Canada would find it more profitable to "join the National Baseball League than the aggregation at Geneva." Canada's ministers at foreign capitals also irritated the Toronto member.

LACOMBE SANG

Liguori Lacombe went down fighting in Laval-Two Mountains and his House, "enlivened morality with wit, and tempered wit with morality."

Mr. Lacombe spoke but rarely, in spite of the fact he possessed a rich, resonant voice which struck the ears pleasantly. Perhaps he will be remembered more as an excellent baritone singer who enlivened the dull moments before division with French-Canadian folk songs.

J. T. Thorson, Winnipeg South

From a longer view the most interesting thing about the election is likely to be its effect upon Empire free trade. Mr. Bennett will be calling his special session at about the time the Imperial Conference is meeting in London to explore the possibilities of a British Empire tariff union. The Conservatives have advocated mutual tariff concessions within the Empire, but this falls far short of the Liberals' open adoption of the Beveridge philosophy. With economic nationalism so powerful a weapon in the hands of Dominion political leaders, hopes for the creation of a great economic unit out of the Empire have certainly not been brightened by the election. On the other hand, the Conservative policy of tariff reduction as a means of quid pro quo bargaining leaves the door open for some progress at the Imperial Conference.

New York, July 30.—The New York Times to-day carried a dispatch from Washington reading in part as follows:

"The victory of Conservative party in the Canadian election, in the opinion of some Republican senators who have followed the issue of that campaign, will lead to the enactment of tariff legislation which will be operative against all countries alike and to the abandonment of the temporary Canadian tariff law now in effect, giving preferences."

"Such is the view of Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, Republican floor leader, who held a conference here with two leading business men of the Con-centre, was regarded as one of the "up-and-coming" young Liberal members of the Commons, but he failed of election. Mr. Thorson was not a fluent speaker, but had the keen, incisive mind of a lawyer and was a hard worker. His efforts during one of the divorce debates last session were considered one of the finest analyses that had been heard for years.

A robust antagonist of "the capitalists" who he never failed to denounce, and a vigorous opponent of two-party government, John Evans of Heceta, Saskatchewan, also failed of election, and the principle of Wales appeared to be without a representative in the Commons. He is a Progressive.

PAPERS OF U.S. SEE CANADIAN TARIFF TILT

that the Dominion is hurching back not only to the Conservative Party but to protective duties aimed particularly at the United States. . . . Very naturally, Washington is said to be already disturbed by this threat of a tariff war with Canada. It now our best customer. But if the war comes it has been distinctly provoked by our own customs legislation. Even the Fordney-McCumber tariff contained rates that Canadians felt were aimed directly at them. By the Hawley-Smoot tariff act the Canadian grievance has been made more acute. The resultant commercial feeling against the United States was the contributing cause to the election of a Conservative Prime Minister, pledged to hit American exports to Canada fully as hard as Canadian exports to us have been hit by our own tariff."

BUSINESS DEPRESSION

The Herald-Tribune said: "It is scarcely an extreme of political cynicism to ascribe the overturn which has swept the Liberals from power in Canada rather to a vote against the elusive ill of business depression than to a vote in favor of the particular remedies advanced by Mr. Bennett and his Conservatives."

"If one asks just what deductions Americans should draw from the Conservative success, the question at once becomes involved in all the unknown quantities of tariff debates."

NO RASH MOVES

"Our Department of Commerce estimated that $200,000,000 of American exports to Canada would be adversely affected by the Liberal tariff introduced in May, and dire predictions of much worse to come from Conservative tariff are already being advanced. Yet the total of some $900,000,000 worth of goods we annually sell in Canada seems to be taken for granted by the whole importers, while the $200,000,000 worth we normally take from her comes to over a third of her exports. The serious dislocation of a trade looming so large in Canada's economic life could hardly be rashly attempted by any government, no matter what its basic outlook."

EMPIRE CONFERENCE

"From a longer view the most interesting thing about the election is likely to be its effect upon Empire free trade. Mr. Bennett will be calling his special session at about the time the Imperial Conference is meeting in London to explore the possibilities of a British Empire tariff union. The Conservatives have advocated mutual tariff concessions within the Empire, but this falls far short of the Liberals' open adoption of the Beveridge philosophy. U.S. BUILDING BIG DIRIGIBLE

Workmen on the Akron Pass Half-way Mark of Construction

Washington, July 30.—As the world's largest dirigible flew across the Atlantic to-day workmen had passed the half-way mark in the construction of a United States airship larger even than the R-100.

Berries being nearly one-third larger than the British dirigible, the United States ship, named the Akron, will incorporate half a dozen revolutionary features designed to increase its effectiveness. Where the R-100 holds 3,150,000 cubic feet of gas, the Akron will hold 4,500,000. The Akron will be 785 feet long as contrasted with the R-100's 703-foot length.

The R-100 has a cruising radius of about 6,000 miles, but it is expected the Akron will be able to fly 10,000 without refueling.

In the Akron, for the first time, there will be an airplane hangar, housing five fast fighting planes for scouting or protective purposes.

EIGHT MOTORS

Because inflammable hydrogen is the lifting gas in the R-100 the British dirigible's motors must be hung outside the hull of the ship. Eight motors with shafts running to propellers outside will be inside the hull of the helium-inflated Akron. Three propellers will have a swivel arrangement so they may be used either to push or pull, raise or lower the big gas bag.

For the first time a United States dirigible will carry guns when the Akron takes flight. It will be equipped to carry sixteen 3-calibre machine guns. The average machine gun fires bullets of only 3 calibre.

The Akron is scheduled for completion by next June at a cost of $7,500,000, while a sister ship, the ZS-1, probably will be finished in the latter part of next year.

WHEAT AT WINNIPEG IS AT LOWEST PRICES IN DECADE

It was the second successive day quotations tumbled under a flood of sales which limited support, supplied by scattered cash buyers. Tuesday's drops were about two cents. To-day's crash ran the market into liquidation through commission houses and stop-loss orders.

GOOD OUTSIDE CROPS FACTORS

Absence of export demand and rather bearish statistics issued by Broomhall estimating the prospective wheat crop in twenty-three countries at 4,000,000,000 bushels, or about 192,000,000 bushels more than a year ago, were factors in the decline. The Russian crop was estimated to be 40,000,000 bushels larger than last year. Export sales were estimated at just more than three-quarters of a million bushels.

DECLINE AT LIVERPOOL

Liverpool cash showed the market dropping to 2 1/2 pence lower per cental to-day. Demand locally for various grades of cash wheat was very indifferent, while a substantial business was worked domestically in oats and barley.

LOSSES AT CHICAGO

Chicago, July 30.—Wheat prices here to-day dropped more than two cents a bushel under the record level established yesterday and July contracts finished to-day at 83 1/2 to 1/2 cents a bushel, while corn for delivery this month sold at 55 1/2 cents.

Predictions of a world wheat crop of 200,000,000 bushels larger than last year and the extreme quiet of demand from European buyers forced prices down to the lowest levels since 1913. The day's loss in wheat ranged from 2 to 3 cents a bushel.

Final quotations, moreover, were at or fractionally above the lowest mark of the season. July delivery touched 83 1/2 cents. Low for September, the basic month now, was 85 1/2 cents and the close 85 1/2 to 85 1/2. The December low was 86 1/2, and the March low 85 1/2.

FLIERS BURNED TO DEATH WHEN PLANE CRASHES

Madison, Wis., July 30.—Two civilian fliers, C. A. Moran, Glenview, Ill., and C. E. Anderson, whose address is unknown, were burned to death yesterday afternoon when their biplane crashed into a marsh in East Madison as they were taking off for La Crosse, Wisconsin.

The fliers landed at the Madison airport at noon after flying from Chicago. When they took off the plane went into a spin and crashed from 100 feet—a half-mile from the airport.

The ship burst into flames and spectators fled in panic. A witness said he saw the fliers' bodies were badly charred.

ervative party several weeks before the election."

COURSE INITIATED

The New York Evening Post yesterday said: "American interest in the outcome of the Canadian election is not a new thing. It is a perennial feature of the United States' foreign policy. The United States faces an annual loss of $500,000,000 in trade as a result of the election need not be taken at their face value, since both parties in Canada are pledged to the policy of protection. Anyway, the higher the tariff Canada imposes, the greater the satisfaction of our own high protectionists at the compliment implied in this imitation of our procedure."

The Post thinks unemployment crowded other causes of dissatisfaction with the Liberals.

RETAILATORY TARIFF

The New York Sun said the swing of the pendulum toward the Conservatives was stronger than anyone could have foreseen. "The United States tariff act of 1930, Canadian unemployment, imperial preferences, falling prices of farm products and business conditions," said the Sun, "all had their effect on the campaign. With the Conservatives able to punch through any legislative programme that appeals to the masses, they are likely to win the country, a retaliatory tariff act may be counted on as one of the first items."

WASHINGTON OPINION

A Washington dispatch said: "The general belief here was that the political problems between the two countries, including the St. Lawrence Waterway, the tariff and rum smuggling from Canada, would not be affected particularly by the change in government."

They Couldn't Know

BACK IN 1818 the greatest newspaper of the day declared that the world had reached the limit of human expansion. It even went further, saying that there weren't enough supplies in the world to support further growth of population.

The mind of 1818 couldn't conceive of the miracles that human ingenuity would perform during the twentieth century. It couldn't imagine the wonders that would be wrought by new agricultural methods and modern manufacturing genius. It was ignorant of transportation as we know it, or the progressive sales methods of to-day. It could not see the vital part that would be played by advertising.

Even to-day there are some who fail to realize what an important factor advertising has become. Advertising is as much a part of to-day's life as electricity, anti-septic surgery or automobiles. It keeps us up-to-date on the many things we need in order to live profitable, happy and useful lives. It presents for our approval articles of all kinds and for all purposes. The requirements of each member of the family are met by advertised offers of good merchandise of proved value.

The advertisements save time, money and effort for those who read them and follow their guidance. They are practical guarantees of satisfaction.

Don't lay aside this paper without reading the advertisements

J. D. Shafford, Chairman of Railway Owners' Association, Looks For Change Next Year

Recession Has About Reached the Pit; Lower Prices For Commodities

"We look for better business for the first of the year," to-day, declared J. D. Shafford of Washington, D.C., chairman of the executive council of the Railway Owners' Association, which is composed of 60,000 members representing $2,500,000,000 of the total of $9,000,000,000 of railway stock in the United States.

Mr. Shafford, who is a native of Hamilton, Ont., and a cousin of the late Senator Shafford, is spending a holiday in Victoria, and will be a guest at the Empress Hotel for the next two weeks.

"The recession," he has about reached the pit, but it will be a slow comeback due to the heavy losses of individuals as well as institutions," he said.

REFLECTED IN TOURIST TRAVEL

The widespread depression, as added, had been clearly indicated by the noticeable falling off in tourist travel this season. The people have not had the money to travel.

"Why," he went on, "at the U.S. National parks of Yellowstone and Glacier, as well as other large resorts, the business has been hit hard but of what it was last year."

The continental-wide depression, he pointed out, was merely the outcome of two causes, primarily the result of the break in the stock market and also through the high price of commodities. Prices, he said, are coming back slowly on a much lower basis.

Mr. Shafford's co-members on the executive council of the Railway Owners' Association are F. M. Holey, vice-chairman; A. S. Pearce, Walter E. Case and Lewis Sutter. No members of the executive receives any monetary compensation, all being wealthy men and railway stockholders.

ST. PAUL'S WILL REVIEW PLANS FOR BUILDING

Special Parishioners' Meeting to Be Held on Monday to Decide Policy

Nanaimo, July 29.—St. Paul's Anglican Church will hold a general meeting of parishioners on Monday, August 4, to decide on rebuilding the church which was destroyed by the recent fire. The wardens have not yet settled with the insurance companies.

It will be decided at the meeting whether they will build on the present site or move to a quieter part of the city.

The old site is considered to be the most valuable business location in the city, and if the church authorities can sell for the price that they want, they will certainly build elsewhere. Several offers of suitable sites have been made to the wardens and church committee, but the matter will have to be dealt with at the general meeting.

Andeanians have been located on the present site for seventy years, and many parishioners are loth to leave.

Rev. Rev. C. R. Conington of Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria, will preside at the meeting.

No definite plans have been arrived at as yet by other parishes, owners who suffered losses in the fire, but the Johnson home and the I.X.L. store, where the fire originated, will not be rebuilt.

Cancellation of the licenses of British Columbia liquor export houses will not be decided upon by the Provincial Government until the return of H. B. Thomson, new chairman of the Liquor Control Board, from the Old Country.

Mr. Thomson is expected to reach Victoria some time in August, so that the export houses have only a short time left to operate.

The government will consult Mr. Thomson in regard to revocation of the licenses, and is expected to revoke them immediately afterwards, returning them at a sum of $10,000 collected for this year from each exporting company.

TEACHERS ENJOY FINE SERIES OF LECTURES HERE

Unique Subjects Given Splendid Treatment By G. W. Wilkinson at Summer School

Masquerade For Students Tonight; Picnic Saturday; School Closes Next Week

Instructed and entertained by one of the finest speakers who have addressed them during their term at Summer School, teachers attending the course at Victoria High School this week are deriving great benefit from the talks of George E. Wilkinson, who speaks to them every afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock.

To-day the gifted lecturer dealt with the relationship between the parent and the child, through the teacher, showing how various new features had come into the attitude adopted by the children towards their parents.

With unusual insight the speaker traced the changes noted since the beginning of history and brought his comments to a close with an outline of present-day conditions.

On Monday, Mr. Wilkinson opened the series with a lecture on "Laughter," which he followed yesterday with the subject "Poetry." To-morrow he will deal with "Elizabethan Adventurers," and will speak on "Buccaniers and Pirates" Friday. That evening, at 8:30 o'clock, the lecturer will be heard in a public address on "Some Humorous Books."

CLOSE NEXT WEEK

With only two weeks left in the course, students have shown rapid progress in their various studies and promise to be equal to any who have attended the school.

To-night the students and staff will gather for their annual masquerade ball. Scores of colorful costumes and unique creations are expected to be seen, as the teachers enjoy the unusual social feature, which has always proved one of the most successful in its department during the school.

On Saturday the student body will journey to Elk Lake for the annual picnic and sports day. During the afternoon track and field events will be staged and will be followed by aquatic sports.

The tennis tournaments have reached the quarter-final stage and have been productive of many excellent matches. The school will close next week with the annual display of work, concert and folk-dancing display. Diplomas will be presented to the successful candidates in the different courses at the completion of the classes.

LOGANBERRY PEAK PASSENGER ISLAND

Heavy shipments of loganberries are being made to the wineries. Department of Agriculture report to-day says the peak is as far as the island is concerned. Cherries arrived here in heavy volume during the week-end and with Royal Anna in poor condition. These cherries are not cleaned up and to-day's market will scarcely absorb the early arrivals. Apples are light and very little trouble anticipated as prices are lowered to clean up.

Ontario tomatoes and cucumbers are now on the markets of Toronto and Ontario. Local supply is not sufficient to meet the demand here and will continue to do so until frost.

SHE GOT HOME; HE FOOTS BILL

When a young lady wishes to get home in a hurry, it is not always advisable for a young man to step on the gas.

This was the lesson learned by Victor Downard, fined $25 in City Police Court this morning for driving to the common danger on Cook Street.

Constable D. Bone said Downard was traveling at between thirty-five and forty miles an hour, at one time going on the wrong side of the street.

"I was rushing to get a young lady home early," Downard explained.

"You should have started earlier," the Magistrate said, "fined $25."

He was given until August 3 to pay.

HOCKING IS BEATEN BY J. COUGHLIN

Victoria Star Loses to Californian in B.C. Tennis Championships

Frank Gove Given Stiff Match By Junior; Velda Rithet Is Defeated

Two prolonged matches featured this morning's play in the British Columbia tennis championships at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club. One occurred in the men's singles when Frank Gove nosed out Hammond, a fellow townsman from Los Angeles. The other extra set match in the open events came in the men's doubles when Eric McCallum and Marsh Gordon, city champions, defeated Eric Leney and Reg Corfield in three long sets. In the other scheduled men's singles Joe Coughlin of San Francisco defeated Ross Hocking of this city with ease. Margaret Sturgeon of Los Angeles eliminated Velda Rithet in straight sets in another early match.

Frank Gove, who has week defeated Henry Prusoff to reach the final round of the western Canada championships at Vancouver, ran into stiff opposition from the Los Angeles player, who coupled good speed with consistent length. His half volleys from the baseline had plenty of pace and he repeatedly fed Gove soft shots at the net that couldn't be put away for aces. Gove played rather listlessly against such opposition and barely scraped through late in the third set to win the match. Gove took the first set at 6-3, but dropped the second at 6-8. He held his own in the early stages of the final set and then blasted his way through the last three games for the match. The scores were 6-3, 6-8, 10-6.

COUGHLIN WINS EASILY

Joe Coughlin had too much speed for Ross Hocking, who could not settle down to consistent tennis and won without much opposition. The scores were 6-0, 6-2. Margaret Sturgeon had too much pace for Velda Rithet and her service was working perfectly. She won 6-2, 6-3.

The men's doubles between McCallum and Gordon and Leney and Corfield was one of the best of the week. The up-land pair, who have played together in the Vancouver Island League with success, gave the Victoria Club and city champions a real battle. Eric Leney played well and made some untouchable smashes at the net that were well fought for but the Victoria duo won at 6-3 for the match.

This morning's results follow:

MEN'S SINGLES

Joe Coughlin, San Francisco, beat Ross Hocking, Victoria, 6-0, 6-2.

Frank Gove, Los Angeles, beat H. S. Hammond, Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-8, 10-6.

McCallum and Gordon, Victoria, beat Corfield and Leney, Duncan, 6-3, 3-7, 6-3.

Bender Graham, San Francisco, lost to Rod Mathews, San Francisco, 6-2, 7-5.

The widespread depression, as added, had been clearly indicated by the noticeable falling off in tourist travel this season. The people have not had the money to travel.

"Why," he went on, "at the U.S. National parks of Yellowstone and Glacier, as well as other large resorts, the business has been hit hard but of what it was last year."

The continental-wide depression, he pointed out, was merely the outcome of two causes, primarily the result of the break in the stock market and also through the high price of commodities. Prices, he said, are coming back slowly on a much lower basis.

Mr. Shafford's co-members on the executive council of the Railway Owners' Association are F. M. Holey, vice-chairman; A. S. Pearce, Walter E. Case and Lewis Sutter. No members of the executive receives any monetary compensation, all being wealthy men and railway stockholders.

ST. PAUL'S WILL REVIEW PLANS FOR BUILDING

Special Parishioners' Meeting to Be Held on Monday to Decide Policy

Nanaimo, July 29.—St. Paul's Anglican Church will hold a general meeting of parishioners on Monday, August 4, to decide on rebuilding the church which was destroyed by the recent fire. The wardens have not yet settled with the insurance companies.

It will be decided at the meeting whether they will build on the present site or move to a quieter part of the city.

The old site is considered to be the most valuable business location in the city, and if the church authorities can sell for the price that they want, they will certainly build elsewhere. Several offers of suitable sites have been made to the wardens and church committee, but the matter will have to be dealt with at the general meeting.

Andeanians have been located on the present site for seventy years, and many parishioners are loth to leave.

Rev. Rev. C. R. Conington of Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria, will preside at the meeting.

No definite plans have been arrived at as yet by other parishes, owners who suffered losses in the fire, but the Johnson home and the I.X.L. store, where the fire originated, will not be rebuilt.

STEPHEN LEACOCK MOOTED AS HEAD OF TARIFF BOARD

Ottawa, Ont., July 30.—Fate of the Tariff Advisory Board is one of the outstanding issues of the election which there is conjecture. Many think Stephen Leacock, professor of economics in McGill University, and well-known author, will be made chairman.

Ottawa, Ont., July 30.—Premier Mackenzie King and Hon. R. B. Bennett are in conference this afternoon. The two leaders are meeting in the Prime Minister's office in the East Block.

MAJORITY OF DIALS ARE NOW ON TELEPHONES

Over 10,000 telephones in Victoria have been equipped with dials since the work of installation commenced on July 2. The work is well ahead of schedule, but slower progress is expected with the remainder of the 15,000 instruments to be made over, due to many homes being vacant while the holiday season is in progress.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.

Winnipeg, July 30.—Wheat.—The wheat market continued heavy again to-day with prices on the break making new low records in all months and reaching 4½ cents under the close yesterday. Liquidation through commission houses was fairly heavy, while Chicago and eastern interests were also good sellers.

Support was indifferent, but the market ran into a little export business on the break, probably 500,000 bushels being taken, while overnight sales were placed at about the same figures.

While Chicago was selling in the market, Chicago interests were also good buyers at times, which was understood to be unwinding of a spread that was put on at eight cents difference and taken in to-day at five cents, four or five million bushels being taken and this was the best support in the market.

There were slight upturns at times, but they were impossible to hold the market making new low near the finish, offerings apparently coming from all directions. The demand for cash wheat was quiet and indifferent, but offerings were quite light and spreads were about unchanged.

The weather was clear over the west, no precipitation of consequence being reported, while temperatures were moderate. Broome's estimate that prospective wheat crop in the twenty-three principal countries will be 192,000,000 bushels larger than last year. This is bearish, especially in view of the fact that most European countries and others are curtailing their purchases of foreign wheat due to the weakness in their currency.

Liverpool closed 1½ to 2½ lower, and Winnipeg finished weak, closing practically at the bottom, and selling 4 to 4½ cents lower. Sentiment is still very bearish and it will require some new incentive or much broader export buying if prices are to be worked higher at this time.

Corn.—These markets all lost ground, largely in sympathy with the weakness in wheat. However, there is very little demand for anything; no export business or inquiry with eastern Canada taking small lots of oats and barley.

Flax.—This market was also lower, especially the cash months, with general liquidation going on. Demand quiet, crushers showing little or no interest.

Liverpool due 1½ to 2½ lower based on Winnipeg.

If Husbands and Wives Could Change Jobs for A Day, So That Each Could See How Hard Is The Other One's Work, They Would Never Again Belittle Each Other's Achievements

A WOMAN writes me: "My husband and I are always quarreling over my work. He says: 'Gosh, haven't you got those trousers mended for me yet? Gee, what do you do with your time? I could do all the work you do in a whole day in thirty minutes and have the balance of the time left to play golf in. Why, you've got a regular snap, with nothing to do but to take care of the children and do the housework. When I could have it easy like that.' To which I respond with heat: 'I have a snap, have I, and you are Mr. Efficiency who could do all of my work in thirty minutes and be a play boy the balance of the time, could you? How do you get that way? Don't you ever notice me getting up at 6 o'clock in the morning to get the breakfast while you and the kids are still sleeping? Did you ever watch me doing a marathon between the kitchen and the bathroom, trying to cook the cereal with one hand and wash behind the children's ears with the other? Did you ever watch me double-timing, trying to soothe a teething baby and find you a clean shirt and get the children dressed for school?'"

"And how do you think the house gets cleaned up and three meals a day cooked and the laundry work done and the food bought and the stockings darned if I don't do it? Let me tell you, my good man, that homes are still run by woman-power, and in this particular one I'm it, and I'm about the nearest thing to a perpetual-motion machine you ever saw."

"Work! I wish I had a part-time job like yours, that only lasts from 9 to 5, with a hour off for lunch, and I had nothing to do but stand around and gab with a lot of men and pretty stenographers." And then friend husband jams on his hat and bangs the front door behind him and I go and scrub out the bathtub for the seven-millionth time and pick up the papers that he has scattered around for the billionth time and start on by 7:30 the round of the domestic treadmill. And we are no nearer settling the question of which one of us works the harder than we were the first time we ever debated it. And it is still good for a fight every time it comes up."

In thousands of other homes husbands and wives are snarling at each other over this same bone of contention, because each one thinks that he or she has got the worse end of the matrimonial bargain. This is natural and inevitable, because each of us knows the difficulties and the hardships of our own lot and we do not know what others have to suffer.

It is that way all through life. We put the loudspeaker on our own troubles and the soft pedal on other people's. We pity ourselves because we have to work and struggle and strain and deny ourselves in order to get the things we want, and we look enviously on those who, we imagine, have had everything handed to them on a silver salver without any effort on their part. But if we only knew the truth, they have bought success with their life blood, even as we have.

You often hear a business man say: "I don't want my son to go into the grocery trade and have to slave as I have done. I want him to be a professional man, so he can take things easy." And you will hear a professional man say: "I don't want my son to have to go through the agony of weary waiting for clients that I did. It is heart-breaking. I want him to go into business where he can make a quick success."

So it is not surprising that husbands and wives should each underrate the work that the other does, and I often wish that it were possible for them to swap places for a day or a week and thus have an opportunity to find out from actual experience how heavy is the burden the party of the other part has to bear. Believe me, it would make them wondrous kind and appreciative.

As it is, their estimate of each other's work is based on ignorance and lack of personal experience. The man comes home to a house that is clean and orderly, a well-cooked meal and children who are all tidied up. And, never having swept a floor or cooked a meal or washed and dressed a baby in his life, he has a vague general idea that these things happen automatically and he hasn't an idea of the thousands of steps his wife has taken and the hours of labor she has given to achieve this result.

But if he could, just for one day, do his wife's work, sweep over the same floor a dozen times, wash the same little faces over and over again, assemble the hundred things it takes to make a good meal, darn the same old socks, mend a constant call for M-o-b-e-r, wrangle with a crying baby while doing all the other jobs, why, Mr. Husband would simply flee back to his own job and never again think of his wife as leading a life of inglorious ease.

And it is the same way with women. When a woman goes downtown it is a sort of lark to her. She gets a thrill out of seeing new faces. The stir and activity of people moving about amuse her. The pretty things in the stores delight her. It is a treat to her to have lunch in a restaurant and not have to eat her own cooking. And, for the life of her, she can't help picturing her husband's going to work as going to a sort of party because he goes downtown and works among other people, so she doesn't see what he has to complain about nor why he should be so tired when he comes home at night.

But if she could exchange places with him for a day, if she could know the nerve-racking strain under which he works and the fierce competition he has to meet, if she could know the anxiety that tears at his soul when he wonders how he is to meet a note in the bank; if she could know the despair that fills him as he sees his life work and all that has built up tumbling down about him; if she could know the aggravation of dealing with stupid and careless and uninterested employees or if she could know what it was to be hawled out and ground down and insulted by a tyrannical employer and to have to endure insults because one dared not give up one's job, she would never again disparage her husband's work.

Now that so many women go into business they have an opportunity of putting themselves in a man's place and knowing what his work is really like, and it makes them very tender and sympathetic to their husbands. But men never do a woman's work and so they still think that cooking and scrubbing and baby-tending is not work, it is just the diversion of an idle hour.
